

Historical Spotlight

The Zachariah Wines store built ca 1880 has shown the full effects of age and was in need of crucial repairs. Due to the generosity of funds provided by the Long Bluff Historical Society, several repairs have been made. The building remains a source of history and enjoyment for our community and for generations to come.

Born on November 12, 1847, Zachariah W. Wines, was the oldest son of Andrew and Susannah Wines. While attending college in Richmond, Va., Zachariah learned his father was encountering financial difficulties and was about to lose their land. Zachariah immediately left college and returned to Society Hill to help his father redeem their property. It was 1864, the country was in the throes of the Civil War.

A local merchant, educator, politician, and lay church leader Zachariah Wines, was born in 1847 in Society Hill, represented Darlington Co. in the S.C. House 1876 - 78, and was commissioned Captain in the National Guard in 1877. Wines was a founding member and officer of Union Baptist Church (organized in 1866). He also taught at nearby Waddell School and later served as Society Hill Postmaster, 1897-1904. He died in 1920. Wines was the First Black Businessman and Representative in Dar Co. The Zachariah Wines store can be seen today at 290 Church Street in Society Hill. Source: <http://www.culturalrealismvision.com/>

David Moyd, right, sworn in as SH new municipal judge.

Our Municipal Judge Ms. Deatrice Curtis resigned in late September and the town council has chosen as our new Judge Mr. David Moyd. Mr. Moyd has been a Hartsville attorney for around 25 years and we feel like he will carry on the Judicial professionalism that Ms. Curtis had given us. Upon his taking the oath of office he immediately had an assignment by our police department. Mr. Moyd has ties to Society Hill as his brother, also from Hartsville, has been and still is a well respected physician at care -south here for over 20 years.
